FOREWORD

Mr. Kenny, Yearbook Adviser

Our goal for the 1961-62 TIGER was to publish a yearbook that was subtle and individualistic. There is no prominent theme; however, as a unifying device, we chose to use sundials depicting the passage of time. In a narrow sense, the sundials portray the passing of time between the freshman and senior years; but more importantly they present an eye-witness account of hour-to-hour activity.

Time is a significant factor in the life of every student as he waits for the bell to ring, for Friday to come, and for his day of graduation. The sundials on our division pages indicate key times of the day, including faculty meetings at 4:15, classes starting at 8:30, activities after school at 3:30, athletic events beginning at 8:00, and Senior Commencement at 9:00.

We hope you enjoy your 1962 TIGER.

We Honor Mr. Donald Eklund

He is "of grave discourse, giving new weight to virtue by his speech,
And gladly would he learn and gladly teach."

Prologue, Chaucer's Canterbury Tales
"The Student"

DEDICATION

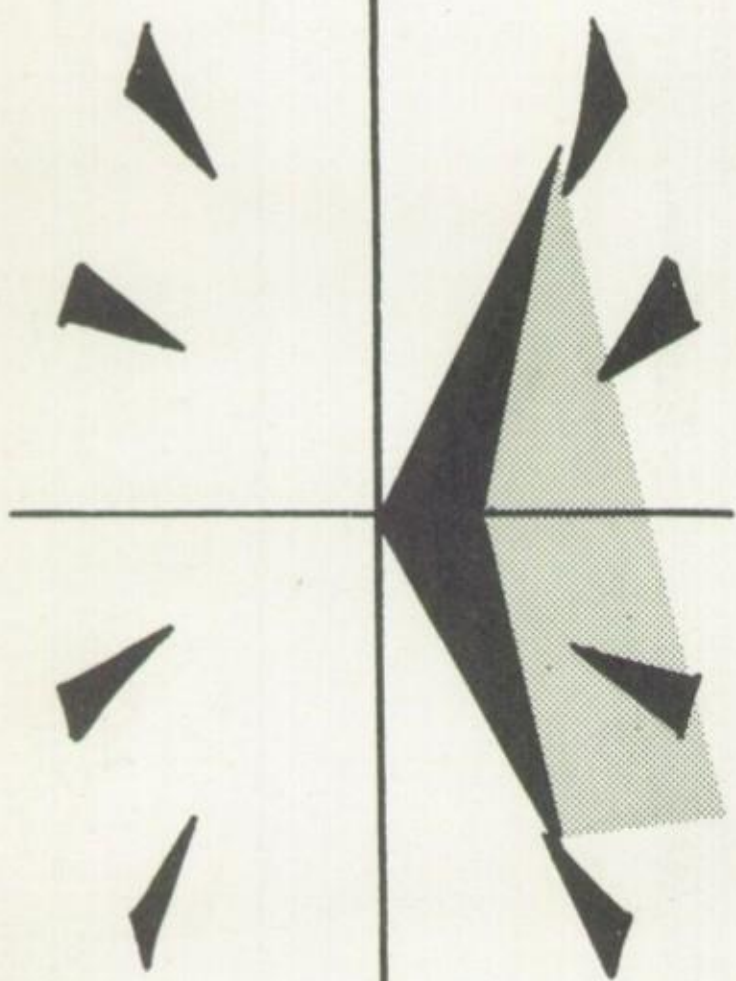

We, the Class of 1962, will always hold in our hearts and minds the fond memory of one teacher, strong in his convictions, and dedicated to his work in the field of education.

As we started our careers in high school, we found in him a friend, a counselor, and a teacher willing to lend a helping hand at all times. He was always there to direct our minds, talents, and ideas to help us become more mature and intelligent individuals.

As Seniors, we have had the opportunity to profit through his teaching not only from the text but also from problems arising in every-day life. We have now come to realize the important role he willingly assumed these past four years, finding in him the abundant qualities that make a good teacher. His genuine interest in us was apparent all through our formative years in high school.

To you, Mr. Eklund, we are dedicating our yearbook, the 1962 TIGER, with the hope that you may realize our esteem and admiration for you. In the years to come we will continually value and apply what you have taught us, and in appreciation we therefore dedicate this book as a symbol of the affection and high regard we hold for you in our hearts and minds.

ADMINISTRATION

BOARD OF EDUCATION

BOARD MEMBERS. Dr. A. D. Poppens; Mr. Harold B. Steele; Mr. James H. Lowry, president; Mr. Harold Council; Dr. H. L. Marsh.

The students of Princeton High School are very fortunate in having such a fine school board. The Board members have shown much interest in our school and its students. Under their leadership the school has been operated very efficiently as well as pleasantly.

These gentlemen give much of their time to meet with Mr. McKinty in order to discuss and act upon business matters involving our school, and to strive for constant improvement of the educational opportunities offered to the high school students of our community. We salute these men who so enthusiastically discharge their responsibilities as members of our Board of Education.

PRINCIPAL

The Class of 1962 wish to thank Mr. McKinty for all the help and understanding he has shown us in the last two years of our study at Princeton High School.

Formerly a teacher of science at PHS, Mr. McKinty left Princeton for a few years as chemistry teacher and student dean at Oak Park High School. He has now completed two years of service here since returning as principal of our school.

We wish continuing success to Mr. McKinty, and to the Princeton High School faculty and students for whose efforts he is responsible as principal.

MR. RAYMOND L. McKINTY

OFFICE SECRETARIES

Our office secretaries, Mrs. Saxum and Mrs. Stanfield, deserve our sincere thanks for their constant work in our behalf. As secretary to the principal, Mrs. Saxum has been serving our school efficiently for ten years. Her new role as grandmother is responsible for the extra twinkle we could see in her eyes during the past year.

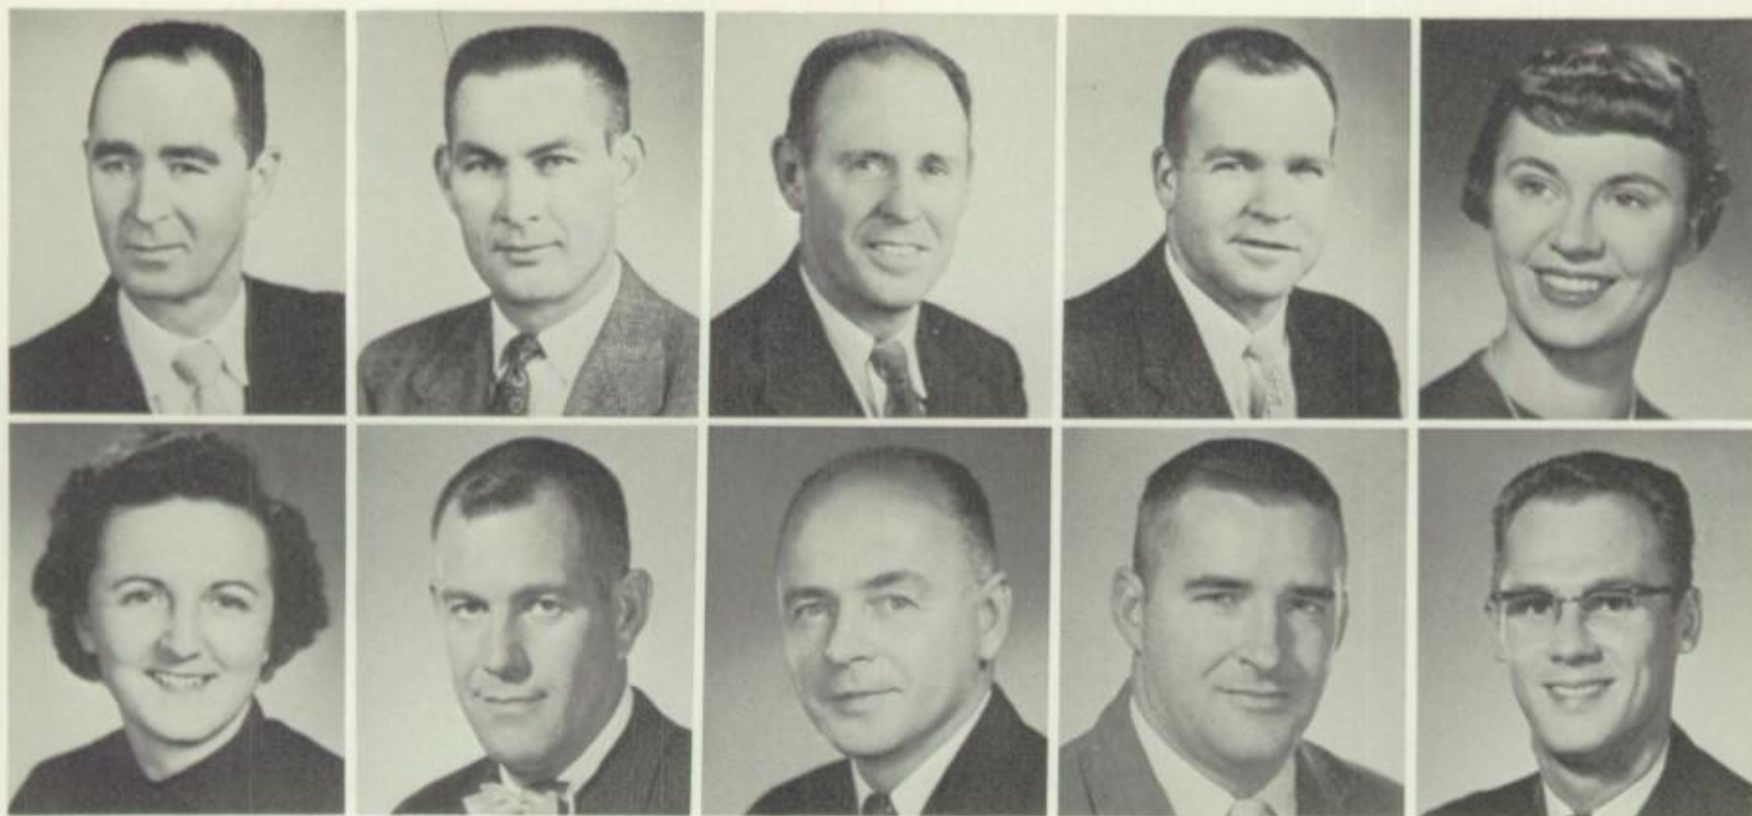

A recent graduate of PHS, Mrs. Stanfield returned to the school to work as assistant office secretary. She started last fall as "Miss Bird," and then became a "Mrs." during the year.

We appreciate the unending patience and attention to duty of both of these ladies. We often overlook the fact that without them our school would not function as smoothly as it does.

All of us owe a special thank-you to our friendly and capable cooks. They work very hard to plan and prepare our hot lunches every noon, and they also prepare special treats at Christmas and Thanksgiving.

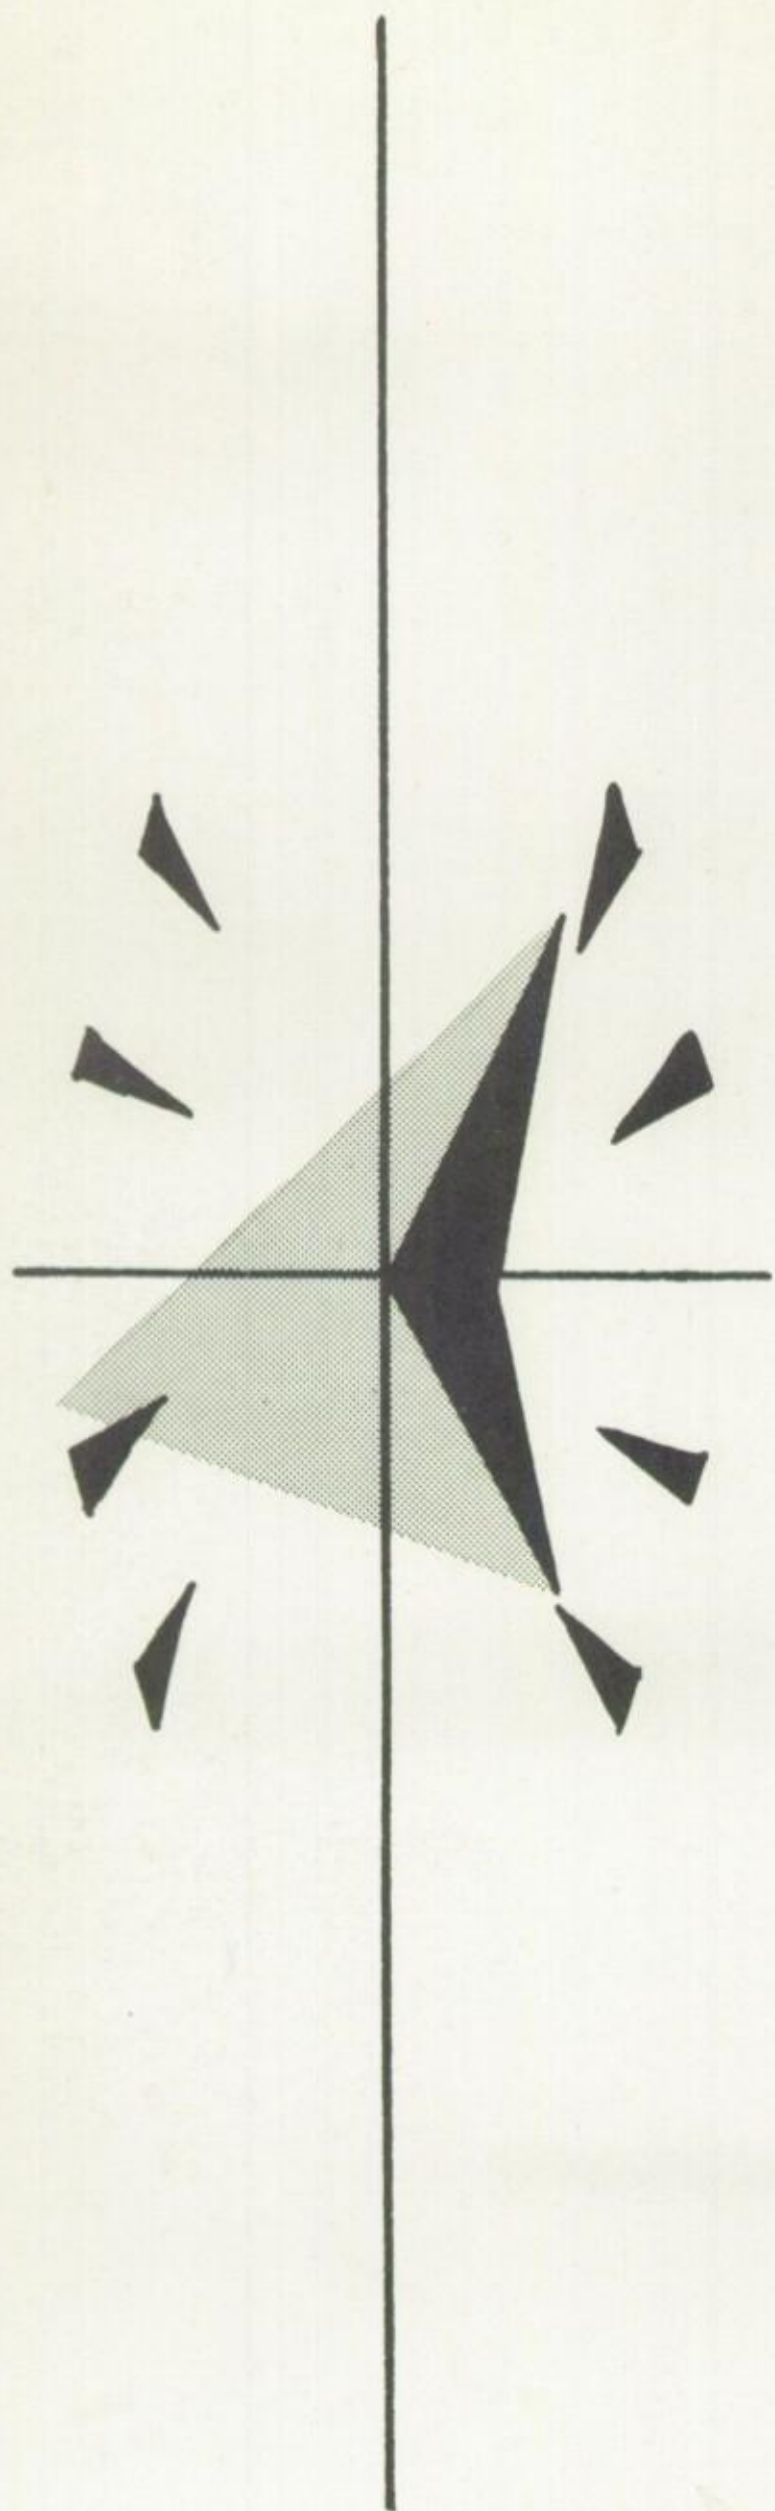

We also owe a thank-you to our custodians, who do a wonderful job of keeping our school clean and well ordered. The work of these men is of basic importance to the operation of our school. They are understanding and uncomplaining when they occasionally have to "pick up" after careless students.

A large measure of the success of PHS should be credited to the too often unappreciated work of the people who are pictured on this page.

SENIORS

For the past four years, Home Room 310 has been occupied by terrified freshmen, apathetic sophomores, anticipating juniors, and pretentious seniors. All of these groups were the same "old gang," but just a year older, and, as time went by, a little wiser.

Home Room 310 began each year in exactly the same way. The members worked diligently for weeks in advance of Homecoming, only to produce the last-place float (which would invariably fall apart in its triumphant march down Main Street). We did not exhibit a float in our senior year because of "mechanical difficulties."

Mr. Krech was the "ruler" of 310—and rule he did! Part of the time he would dominate with an iron hand, while at other times he would hold us in check with just a light grip of the reins. None of us will ever forget the philosophical sayings that greeted us each morning, the arguments, and of course the bawlings-out that we occasionally received.

Home Room 310 was, along with the inevitable work, a lot of wholesome fun, hardly complete without Mr. Krech.

As freshmen we were Home Room 113, but as a result of the modernization that occurred during the year, we were moved to Room 115.

Homecoming of our sophomore year gave rise to our first distinguishing action. Following a long tradition of Mr. Durham's home rooms, we brought back first place in the float competition.

The following fall, with our usual lack of enthusiasm, we embarked on our junior year. After a week of indecision and lack of inspiration, we realized that a float was not going to be built. In last-minute desperation we decided to adorn Sheila Lenihan's Renault with wings, antennae, and other similar apparel, and to use the slogan "We'll Bug'em." As luck would have it, Sheila pulled one of her timely fender bends the day of the parade and 115's hopes sank into oblivion.

Our senior float—we actually made one—was of admittedly sub-prize-winning proportions; but Terry Huffstodt made the Homecoming festivities a success by coming through beautifully in the Queen elections. Altogether, our senior home room was a relaxed one, and we leave it and Mr. Durham with no small amount of regret.

HOME ROOM 109.

SENIORS

When we of Home Room 109 entered high school as green and groping freshmen, we reported to Mr. Gartner in Room 305. It was not until we were well rounded sophomores that we could enjoy a remodeled, wood-paneled room on the first floor.

One of our biggest problems was floats for Homecoming parades. In the fall of our freshman year, we won third place, but each year after that our float money went into more constructive things.

Washing a bus our freshman year proved to be a very wet experience, and after that we resorted to a bake sale to earn money.

We consider ourselves fortunate in being able to listen to members of the PHS Speech Team rehearse their various soliloquys for our benefit. We are cultured in the theatrical arts from high comedy to hyper-emotional tragedy.

We have enjoyed our four years here and are grateful to Mr. Gartner for the help he has given us, for our home room debates on school issues, and for his patient understanding of our teenage idiosyncrasies.

HOME ROOM 305.

Sanders, Mr. Swan, J. Sergulz, S. Wickenhauser.

1962

Home Room 305 has had Mr. Swan as its teacher this past year. We were previously fortunate in having Mr. Eklund as our freshman home room teacher, and Miss Pavon as our sophomore and junior home room teacher.

This year our home room was a combination of Miss Pavon's and Mr. Gartner's former home rooms. It proved this year to be a larger but more "refined" home room.

We were agreed that Home Room 305 was an active home room. Fund raising activities included bake sales and the sponsoring of hops.

This year proved to be our most successful Homecoming year. After working especially hard on our entry for the parade, hoping to secure first place at least once before our graduation, we turned out a unique float. Although its sides fell and it arrived at the North End in pieces, we soon repaired the damage (with the help of tape and nails) and were ready to proceed down Main Street. The judges, sharing our enthusiasm for our float, awarded first prize to us; Home Room 305 finally had a winner!

CLASS OF 1963

The Junior Class, though small in number, again experienced a school year that was large in rewards.

Junior goals included producing a successful class play, and giving the seniors a Prom to be remembered. How well they succeeded in these endeavors is now a matter of P.H.S. history.

Though saddened greatly by the loss of two valuable members of their class, the Juniors exhibited remarkable spirit in their many contributions to school life and work during 1961-62.

As they look ahead, the Juniors realize that they have one big high school year ahead of them; and they are confident that they have the spirit and drive to carry that year through to a successful conclusion. Looking beyond high school, they realize too that the responsibilities of adult life lie within grasping distance.

The Class of 1963 will be remembered as one trying to promote high ideals as active leaders. They are in the process of molding their future—they are the Juniors.

As the sophomores soon found out, this second year was to be one of their biggest as underclassmen. This was the year for deciding on, ordering, and receiving their class rings. And the gala Sophomore Banquet, traditional event of the springtime, helped to climax the year.

Sophomores demonstrated their excellence in many and varied fields of activity through the half-way mark in their high school careers. The Class of 1964 maintained and perhaps bettered to some degree the traditionally high standards of P.H.S. sophomores.

As the 1961-62 school year closed, sophomores were focusing their attention on life as upperclassmen; and the graduation goal of 1964 seemed not too far away.

FRESHMAN CLASS OFFICERS. Front: D. Zunkel, vice-president; G. Jensen, president. Rear: Judy Burgh, treasurer; Carolyn Huffstodt, secretary.

In September, 1961, 168 freshmen entered P.H.S. as new high school students. Aside from the fact that they constituted the largest freshman class in Princeton High School history, the rest of the student body knew little about them. Now, nine months later, the Class of '65 has become a real part of school life and work.

Although temporarily disabled in the fall, President Gary Jensen and his fellow class officers showed a great deal of enthusiasm through activities the class participated in during the school year.

Freshman homecoming floats, while not all prize winners, showed the results of clever advance planning and a giant-sized amount of work, as did their football, basketball, and track performances.

The interests of the freshmen extended to the intellectual field as well as the physical. One look at the Honor Roll will clearly give evidence of this.

Members of the Class of 1965 look forward to their sophomore year as tried veterans of high school life.

HOMECOMING

Princeton's '61 Homecoming on October 6 began with a lovely day and a beautiful parade. Although some of the floats didn't quite make it to the starting point, the parade was quite a success, especially for Homecoming Queen Terry and her Court. Later that day P.H.S. proved it had brawn as well as brains in beating Rock Falls to win the first Homecoming game in many a year.

All of the spectators appreciated the half-time performance by Mr. Stamm and his marching band, and the crowning of the Queen by Bob Downer, football co-captain. It was most impressive, and made extra-exciting by the announcement that the first, second, and third place winners of the float contest were Mr. Swan's, Mr. Ott's, and Mr. Gossett's homerooms, respectively.

The following night, the traditional Homecoming Dance was held in the girls' gym. All the pumpkins and cornstalks of autumn, lovely music, a beautiful Queen and Court, and a crowd of proud and happy Tigers made it the perfect dance for the perfect Homecoming.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

To be a member of National Honor Society, one must measure up to high standards of scholarship, character, leadership, and service. Scholastically qualified juniors and seniors are elected to membership by vote of the students and faculty.

National Honor Society sponsors several activities during the year. In the fall, the members sold cider and doughnuts as a fund-raising project.

In December, the Honor Society chose from applicants for Teacher for a Day (all of them seniors) and assigned them to take charge of many of the classes on that annually observed day.

Formal initiation for new members was held on March 1. Officers for the year installed the incoming members, who are pictured above with the installing officers. These officers who had been elected to membership as juniors were: President Tom Branning, Vice-President Roger Angel, Secretary Helene Bright, Treasurer Brenda Rockey, and Sergeant-at-Arms Steve Gunning. Mr. Don Neuman sponsors the Honor Society as faculty adviser.

STUDENT COUNCIL

Each year the Student Council of P. H. S. seems to become more active in the affairs of the school.

The Council again assumed responsibility for the school's Christmas Tree during the 1961 Holiday season. Members continued a campaign begun the year before to eliminate "leeching" in the cafeteria lunch line.

A new Student Council activity and responsibility was to direct all the events of Homecoming, thus providing valuable aid to the faculty. On October 24, members acted as guides during Parents' Night. Six members attended a District Convention held at Pittsfield on November 18.

Headed by President Tom Branning, the Student Council took a leading role in carrying out a year of memorable events. Other officers included Vice-President Bob Howard, Secretary-Treasurer Sara Puttcamp, and Parliamentarian Dave Pihl. Faculty Advisers were Mr. Grace and Mr. McKinty.

TEACHER FOR A DAY— CADET TEACHERS

On December 13, 1961, the students of PHS walked into their classes to be greeted not by regular teachers, but by Seniors who were participating in Teacher-for-a-Day. In this activity, sponsored by National Honor Society, interested seniors are given a chance to try their hand at the teaching profession.

Each year second-semester seniors have been given the opportunity to see if they are interested in a vocation which involves group work with children. This is provided by Cadet teaching experience in the classroom of one of Princeton's elementary schools.

A CLUB

The A and AB Clubs are two honorary scholastic societies at Princeton High School. To become a member of A Club, a student must have earned an A in every subject for the first semester. To be a member of AB Club, a student must earn honor roll status for his first semester, with a combination of A and B grades.

Though these "clubs" hold no meetings and collect no dues, membership is a goal worth striving for. Congratulations to the students who attained membership in 1962.

F.F.A.

The F.F.A., or Future Farmers of America, under the leadership of Mr. Gossett, their adviser; club President, Don Rapp; Vice-President Davis Anderson; Secretary Dave Phil; Treasurer Dick Peterson; Reporter Max Pierson; and Sentinel Lawrence Markley, whirled through an active schedule during '61-'62.

A joint F.F.A., Princeton and Bureau, swimming party began the year and was soon followed by a trip to Champaign to see a football game and to participate in Meat and Milk judging. Selling popcorn at the home games, initiating the freshmen members, conducting the pest contest, and attending the International Livestock Show occupied the boys throughout the fall and winter months. The rest of the year's activities consisted of a trip to Chicago for Junior and Senior members, family night, and finally the annual F.F.A. stag weiner roast, which was enjoyed by all.

F.H.A.

The initials F.H.A. stand for Future Homemakers of America. Every girl who is taking or has taken a homemaking course is eligible for membership. The goal for the F.H.A. is to help girls prepare themselves for home and community life now and in the future.

The year's activities began with an F.F.A.-F.H.A. hayride and weiner roast. It was followed by the annual Christmas Party given by the girls for the children from the Children's Home. The second semester was just as busy as the first, for F.H.A. operated the coat check at all the home basketball games, held its annual initiation ceremony, and treated all the members' mothers at the Mother-Daughter Banquet.

The officers who headed this active program were President Janet Hildebrand, Vice-President Ruth Geisenhagen, 2nd Vice-President Pam DelFiacco, Secretary Ruth Ann Owens, and Treasurer Nancy Moran. Mrs. McCutchan was the faculty adviser.

F.N.A.

Future Nurses of America strives to provide a setting in which girls who are interested in nursing as a career can meet together to share that interest, to explore the opportunities and requirements in the field, to grow as individuals by working together, and to learn about the community life in which they will soon participate as informed citizens and possibly nurses. Under President Cheryl Kensinger, Vice President Cheryl Cichocki, Secretary Elaine Solberg, Treasurer Sue Morris, Program Chairman Betty Freeberg, and advisers Mrs. Siebert and Mr. Neuman, the club has carried out an active program. Representatives from Perry Memorial Hospital and from Galesburg College Hospital have spoken to the girls.

Additional activities have included a film on nursing, a discussion of the typical four-year program of nursing education, and an address by Mr. Walter of Perry Memorial Hospital.

NURSE'S AIDES-MESSENGERS

Nurses Aides are on duty every period in the Red Cross room. Appointed by the school nurse, Mrs. Siebert, these girls must be highly responsible and worthy of trust. Their readiness to be of assistance when needed is an important function of our school.

The Messengers are selected for their responsible positions on the basis of dependability, appearance, grades, personality, and the number of free periods they have. They serve Mrs. Saxum and Mrs. Stanfield by answering the telephone, delivering messages, and caring for numerous other chores.

The staff of the '62 Tiger was chosen in April of 1961, and from that time on has been going full speed ahead in the task of producing an outstanding annual. Plans began forming during a series of late spring and early summer meetings, when organization and layout were determined and various ideas for the theme of the Tiger were submitted. Those serving on the '62 Tiger editorial board are pictured on Page 2 of this yearbook.

All the labor of these people and their many helpers, the hustle and bustle right before deadlines, the feelings of pride and satisfaction felt by all involved cannot possibly be mentioned here. There is, however, one person who must be mentioned and given the thanks of the entire annual staff, for without the long hours he worked, without his knowledge and unifying efforts, this book would have been impossible to create. We thank Mr. Kenny, our sponsor, and also all the students of P.H.S. who have been so helpful throughout 1961-62.

NEWSPAPERS

The TIGER RAG is our school newspaper, which reflects the opinions and ideas of the student body.

This year's editors included: Editor-in-Chief Connie Miller; Make-up Editor Linda Lenihan; Sports Editor John Lee; and Copy Reader Judy Stoops. Adviser was Miss Pearson.

The Tiger Rag's primary aim this year was to make the publication something the school could be proud of and interested in.

The WEEKLY TIGER staff, capably guided by Miss Pavon as their sponsor, again worked hard in sending school news to the Bureau County REPUBLICAN for publication each week.

Headed by Editors Joanne Small and Sara Puttcamp, the staff succeeded in revealing to the public many of the activities found at P.H.S.

Working along with the TIGER RAG, the WEEKLY TIGER staff deserves credit for creating the idea and planning for the opportunity of P.H.S. sponsorship of a foreign exchange student in the near future.

ATHLETIC CLUBS

The Varsity Club, an honorary organization, provides for the recognition of athletes who have lettered in Varsity sports. In order to win a Varsity letter, a boy must meet certain participation requirements prescribed for the various sports, including football, cross-country, basketball, wrestling, track, and golf.

The National Athletic Scholarship Society is an honorary society which includes in its membership boys who have earned recognition both athletically and scholastically. To become a member, a boy must have won a Varsity letter at PHS and be in the upper half of his class scholastically.

PEP BAND

This year Pep Band was comprised of about half of the total band members. Unlike last year, it was composed mostly of underclassmen. The members rendered their services at pep rallies and basketball games.

At the beginning of the year, a small group played at the football pep assemblies. For basketball games, however, it became necessary to increase the size of the group. The Pep Band played before basketball games and at half-time to furnish an added attraction. "Let's Win This Game" was the song most associated with Pep Band. The Pep Band was a great inspiration at games and added greatly in creating school spirit among students.

The clatter of feet on the stairs; the rattle of instrument cases; an undercurrent of various practice tones, sometimes clashing, sometimes blending—the band is settling down to practice. This was a familiar scene to the members of the Princeton High School band who under the wand of Mr. Stamm met daily to prepare the music we presented to the public on numerous and varied occasions.

The fall season means two things to the Princeton bandsman: halftime shows and the Northwestern Band Day. This year our home performances were limited to three, but with an equally curtailed number of night practices and the danger imposed by the first period girls' archery classes, we worked out programs that easily met with public approval. With eager anticipation and the calm assurance that we would not encounter disaster like the deluge that routed us from the stands two years previous, the band sleepily piled into buses and private vehicles early September 30 and headed north to Evanston. A number of pessimists were molded that day, for the sadistic weatherman waited until we were in the middle of the field halfway through the second number before he pulled a repeat of the drenching of '59.

Along with these events the band got their legs in shape with three parades. These were the annual homecoming affair, the Aunt Je-mima Pancake Day (an innovation that pre-sented us with the chance to gorge ourselves at the expense of the Lions), and a salute to our community's number one smoke eater.

Princeton was privileged this year in serving as host to the annual North Central Music Festival. A number of our musicians participated in the composite band which along with the similarly constructed chorus presented a program of music not soon to be forgotten by those fortunate enough to be in attendance.

The 1961 performance calendar was rounded out by our annual reception of Santa Claus and his bag full of "Okie Dokies."

Winter and basketball brought the Pep Band into flower. At every game a segment of the regular band was present to lend a musical flavor to the athletic fervor of Prouty Gym.

Throughout the period after football season, the band prepared and aimed for St. Patrick's Day and the main event of our musical year—the 30th Annual Spring Concert. Switched back to the auditorium for the presentation, the band displayed its usual talent in a varied program of show tune marches, and semi-classical works.

Came the spring, and with it the finale of the year, and for the fourteen senior members the capstone of their high school instrumental careers. This of course was the Memorial Day Parade—the final mile.

As the band room door clicked shut behind them for the last time, these seniors departed with memories of an entertaining and beneficial musical experience that will remain with them for many years to come.

P.H.S.

The year 1961-62 was indeed a busy and successful one for the Princeton High School Choral Department. This year's activities began in May, 1961, when new officers were elected. In girls' chorus, Sarah Morrison was elected president; Brenda Rockey, vice president; Pat Pihl, secretary-treasurer. In boys' chorus Russ Schneider was elected president; Doug Scroggs, secretary-treasurer.

In November advanced chorus had the honor of participating in the first broadcast of our local radio station, WZOE.

On November 18, our music department was host to surrounding conference schools for the North Central Illinois Conference Music Festival, which was held in Prouty Gymnasium. Everyone was pleased with the success of that day.

The Thanksgiving assembly at Princeton High School included the number "Thanks Be to Thee," sung by the advanced chorus.

Large stained-glass windows furnished the background for our chorus during the Christmas concert, which was presented on December 21.

CHORUS

The concert included lovely Christmas music by the Choral Department. The audience joined the Chorus in singing some familiar Christmas carols. The traditional candle lighting and recessional ended the concert.

Soon after Christmas, the Choral Department began making plans for their annual spring concert. "The Best Things in Life Are Free" was chosen as the central idea, or theme, of the spring concert. God, Nature, Love, and Music were chosen as the four sub-themes to be carried out in the concert. Appropriate music was chosen by a committee of chorus members.

The year was climaxed when in May the Chorus sang for the Baccalaureate and Commencement exercises.

The Choral Department consists of a Prep Chorus which is composed of freshman girls; the Advanced Chorus which includes older students; three sextettes; a trio; and the A Cappella Choir.

The choruses and ensembles perform under the very capable direction of Miss Donnabelle Fry.

Art classes as well as Art Club are concerned with a wide variety of art problems and undertakings. Art I is a basic course dealing with fundamental art problems; Art II and III allow students to expand in the directions most suited to their abilities, and to specialize in various projects.

As provided on the activity calendar for PHS, Art Club meets on a once-a-month basis, unless there is a special project under way which requires the use of club meeting time.

Any capable student who wants to devote spare time to extra assignments can become a member of Art Club. Some of the major Club projects for 1961-62 included preparing scenery for plays and for the Christmas and Spring chorus concerts. Posters for various uses in school, and signs for the gymnasium and cafeteria lobby were also prepared.

During the year, then, Art Club members, ably guided and directed by Mrs. Walter, their faculty adviser, engaged in a wide variety of artistic undertakings.

ACTIVITIES CANDIDS

G. A. A. BOARD. Seated: J. Albrecht, P. Pihl, S. Anderson, B. Rockey, K. Eickmeier, A. Anderson, D. Kennedy. Standing: C. Rapp, L. Carter, S. Puttcamp, Miss Donnelly, Mary Newcomer, M. Nelson, S. Edwards.

G.A.A.

G.A.A. is one of the largest and most active organizations in our school. Membership is open to all girls interested in the fun of sports and in learning the rules of a variety of games. Points given for participation count toward awards to be given at the end of the year. Major purposes of G. A. A. include developing and encouraging sportsmanship, promoting interest in athletics, providing opportunities for leadership, and cultivating health of mind and body.

Soccer, volleyball, basketball, bowling, and softball are among the major sports offered during the year. Following a carefully drawn schedule, girls met after school to participate in games and tournaments, with freshmen meeting regularly on Mondays, sophomores on Thursdays, and juniors and seniors on Tuesdays.

Because of their enthusiasm and hard work, the G. A. A. girls successfully completed a crowded schedule of events for 1961-62. During the annual picnic held at City-County Park in September, over sixty freshman girls were initiated. The organization sponsored and decorated the gym for the Homecoming Dance in October, and in November "Pop's Play Night" was a major event. The formal initiation of new members was held in December. A new event this year, "Mom's Play Night," was held in January. One of the biggest events of the G. A. A. year, the annual Sweetheart Dance, was held in February. For this affair the gym was beautifully decorated, and dancing to the music of Joe De Zutti was enjoyed by all.

The Sadie Hawkins Party was held in March and games, prizes, costumes, and varied entertainment were on the program for that evening. In April the election of officers for 1962-63 was held, and the newly elected officers were presented at the annual Mother-Daughter Tea held in May. Also in May, the G. A. A. girls sponsored the Children's Home picnic, and provided games, sports, and a hearty lunch for their guests. And so was concluded another eventful and profitable year for the Girls' Athletic Association of Princeton High School.

Executive Board meetings were held on the first Thursday of each month. Officers were Brenda Rockey, president; Kay Eickmeier, vice-president; Ann Anderson, secretary-treasurer; JoAnn Albrecht and Donna Kennedy, points chairmen; Shirlee Anderson, publicity chairman; and Pat Pihl, sports director. Sports heads for the year were Mary Kay Nelson, soccer; Mary Newcomer and Linda Carter, volleyball; Susan Edwards, basketball; Sara Puttcamp, bowling; and Carol Rapp, softball. We will always remember and appreciate the effort and patience of our sponsor and friend, Miss Donnelly.

SWEETHEART DANCE

SADIE HAWKINS DANCE

This year there were thirteen girls who served as P.E. Leaders. Any member of GAA who was interested in physical education and leadership and passed a written examination was entitled to membership.

The Leaders' purpose was officiating and keeping order at all GAA activities.

This is not an organization for officiating only. Other objectives are to develop leadership and fellowship qualities, to acquire a knowledge of physical education and related fields, to develop the ability to officiate confidently, to develop a healthy mind and body, and to develop an interest in sports.

With Miss Donnelly serving as sponsor, P.E. Leaders have gained a successful place in not only GAA but also in many other activities at P.H.S.

WINTER SNAPS

LATIN CLUB

During 1961-62, Latin Club functioned under the guidance of our new Latin teacher Mr. Phillip Laesch. At the first meeting, held in October, officers were elected. They included President Jim Jensen, Vice-President Corby Howard, Secretary David Bigler, Treasurer, Bob Rapp, and Chorister Henry Hertz. After members sang a few choruses of "Caesar's Legions," the first meeting was adjourned.

At the November meeting, the Latin Club enjoyed a monologue by one of its members, and the modeling by others of some of Mr. Laesch's Scottish costumes. At a following meeting slides of Venice and Rome were shown, through the courtesy of Miss Fry. After semester exams, another meeting was held, and movies of Rome and Venice were viewed. This meeting was adjourned after singing a Latin song entitled "Gaudeamus Igitur."

Later meetings were devoted to forming and carrying out plans for the Roman Banquet in spring, the highlight of the year. At this event the members ate in true Roman style—in a reclining position. They wore Roman costumes and were served by freshman "slaves." A part of the program featured Mr. Laesch playing his Scottish bagpipes for all to enjoy. With the banquet, another eventful year of Latin Club came to a close.

LANGUAGE CLUBS

These clubs exist for the purpose of making students more familiar not only with the language but also with the people who speak this language, their land, and their customs. The clubs function under the guidance of their sponsor Miss Pavon.

The officers of the Spanish Club were President Sara Puttcamp, Secretary Ann Boussein, and Treasurer Lois Klingenberg. This year the club sponsored such activities as a banquet for new members, a trip to Chicago, and a picnic.

The officers of the French Club were President Helene Bright, Vice President Candy Cain, Secretary Steve Lowry, and Treasurer Dale Kriesel. At Christmas time the members enjoyed a buffet supper hosted by Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Johnson, after which they went caroling — in French, of course. A trip to Chicago climaxed a most enjoyable year.

USHERS

This year the group of ushers seen in the gymnasium during the home basketball games consisted of one team of eight members. This was a change from last year's staff of three teams with a total of twenty members. Mr. McKinty selected the ushers and instituted this policy with the hope that it would give the ushers a chance to become highly skilled and experienced, since their job would be full-time.

Their uniforms consisted of dark trousers, white shirts, and distinctive blue arm bands.

The ushers' objectives were two-fold. First, they controlled the crowds during half-time and after the game; and second, they assisted spectators in finding their seats.

THESPIANS

"Act well your part—there all the honor lies." This is the motto of the National Thespian Society, of which the P.H.S. Troupe 1120 is an active part. The Thespian officers are: President Steve Gunning, Vice President Dave Pihl, Treasurer Dave Phillips, Secretary Linda Walter, and Scribe Carol King. Speech Coach Mr. Gartner is faculty adviser.

The high points of the year are the winter and spring initiations, the annual trip to Chicago, and the one-act plays which give wide scope for the acting abilities of all underclassmen and allow a group of lucky senior members to try their hand at directing.

All in all, the Thespians have continued in their efforts to further the dramatic arts in our high school.

SPEECH TEAM

The Speech Team, coached by Mr. Gartner and consisting of students specializing in individual events and one-act play contestants, engages in competitions that are highlights of the year for those who are interested in speech and dramatics.

Students representing P.H.S. in individual events in 1962 were: Original Oratory: Linda Marsh, NCIC; Martha Newcomer, NCIC, DIST., SECT. Extemporaneous speaking: Mike Riordan, NCIC. Verse Reading: Janice Miles, NCIC, DIST., SECT. Comedy Reading: Mary Newcomer, NCIC; Carol Levisay, NCIC, DIST., SECT.

Serious Reading: Sara Puttcamp, NCIC, DIST., SECT. Radio Speaking: Henry Hertz, NCIC, DIST. Prose Reading: Linda Howe, NCIC, DIST., SECT. After-Dinner Speaking: Dennis Resor, NCIC; Gregory Pierson, NCIC, DIST., SECT. Original Monologue: Jacquelynne Burdett, NCIC, DIST., SECT.

The NCIC Conference meet was held in Rochelle on February 3 with Princeton placing fifth. The District speech contest was held at Ottawa on February 17 where Princeton placed a proud second. First, second, and third place winners in Sectional competition were to go on to the State contest held annually at the U. of I. in Champaign.

The year's one-act play was "The Happy Journey to Trenton and Camden." Cast members were: Carol Levisay, Pete Eckdahl, Lynn Kolp, Henry Hertz, Greg Pierson, and Linda Walter. The play placed second at the District (IHSA) contest at Rock Falls on February 17.

Further information about the fortunes of Speech Team contestants was not available at the time this article was written.

Laughs in many of the right places rewarded the cast of "Decision of Ramey Scott," by Hal O'Neil Kesler, at the Junior Class Play, May 5, 1961. An audience which seemed to live the action with players assured a performance above expectations.

Ramey Scott, a new student who had not been accepted in the activities of a modern high school, was accused of stealing a wrist watch from her locker partner, Dora Sims. To avert suspicion, Ramey reported that her turtle brooch had also disappeared from the locker.

Hoping to help the new girl, Miss Webster, student council adviser, arranged to have Ramey appointed chairman of a committee to select the class ring.

While the rings were on display, one valued at a thousand dollars disappeared, and suspicion was again directed at Ramey.

Miss Call, a newspaper reporter, who was at the school to do a feature story, saw the opportunity for sensationalism. Determined to have her big story, Miss Call insisted on proving the guilt of Ramey and the unfitness of the teacher, Miss Webster. Miss Call questioned various students as to the two thefts and finally demanded that Ramey confess the theft of the watch. Instead, Ramey protested her innocence. After having proved that Ramey had not stolen the watch, Miss Call again brought up the stolen ring. But Gil, the photographer, came in with a photo he had taken in the dark when the thief was given an opportunity to return the ring. The photo revealed Miss Call as the real thief, and Ramey was proven innocent.

After the excitement had gone down, Ellie resigned from delegate to Girls' State and Dora nominated Ramey, who was elected unanimously by the Student Council.

SENIOR CLASS PLAY

"Twelve Angry People" is a revision of Reginald Rose's "Twelve Angry Men," which was seen on the renowned television show Studio One. This performance of "Twelve Angry Men" won the coveted television award—the Emmy.

"Twelve Angry People" is a play in which it is necessary, for the director and cast to spend a great deal of time analyzing the characters and their motives, since the play deals with the qualities of people and their attitudes toward life. It is a play full of emotion—compassion, hatred, understanding, and doubt.

The plot consists of a jury who are faced with deciding if a young boy should be allowed to live or if he should die. The play not only reveals the attitudes of each of the jurors toward the boy but also reveals the character of the twelve jurors.

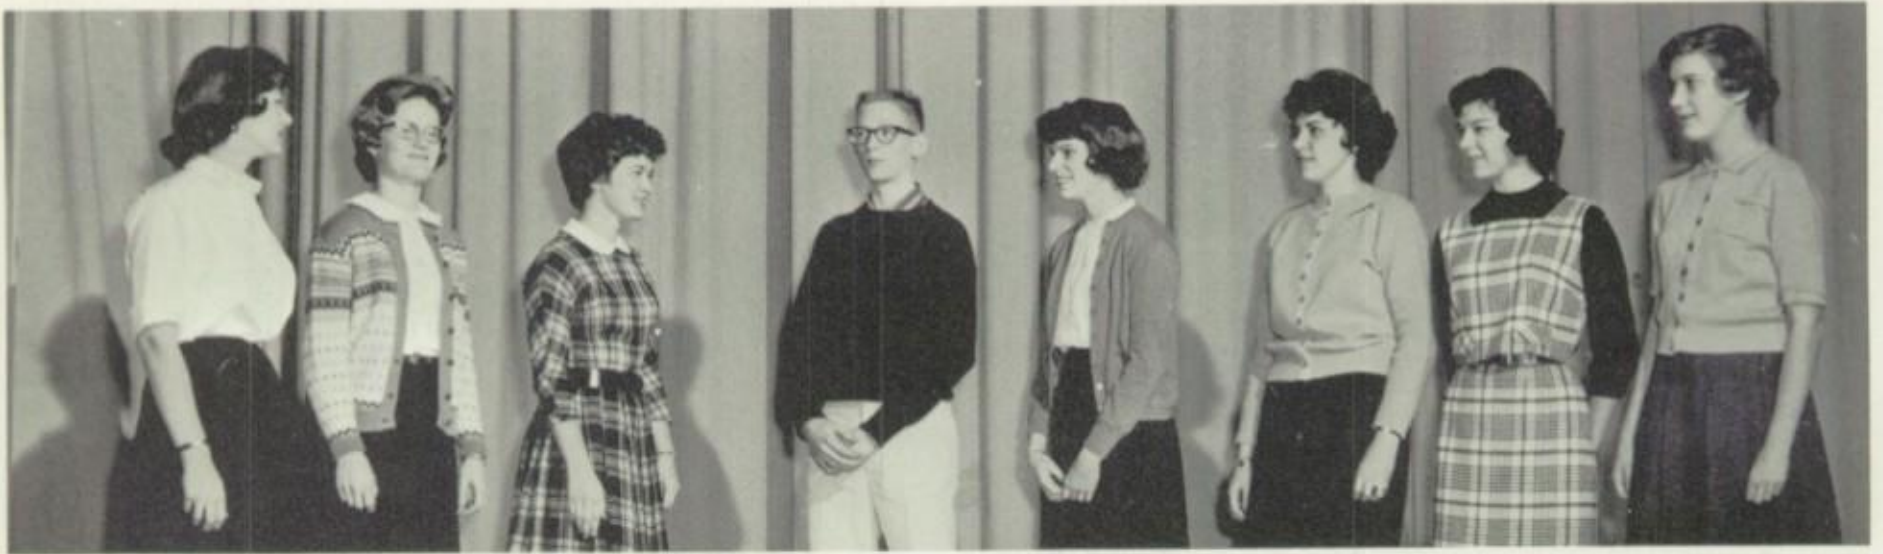

The seniors who acted in this compelling drama and all the seniors who worked on committees felt that "Twelve Angry People," under the direction of Mr. Gartner, assisted by Susan Edwards, was a superb production.

SEA OF DREAMS

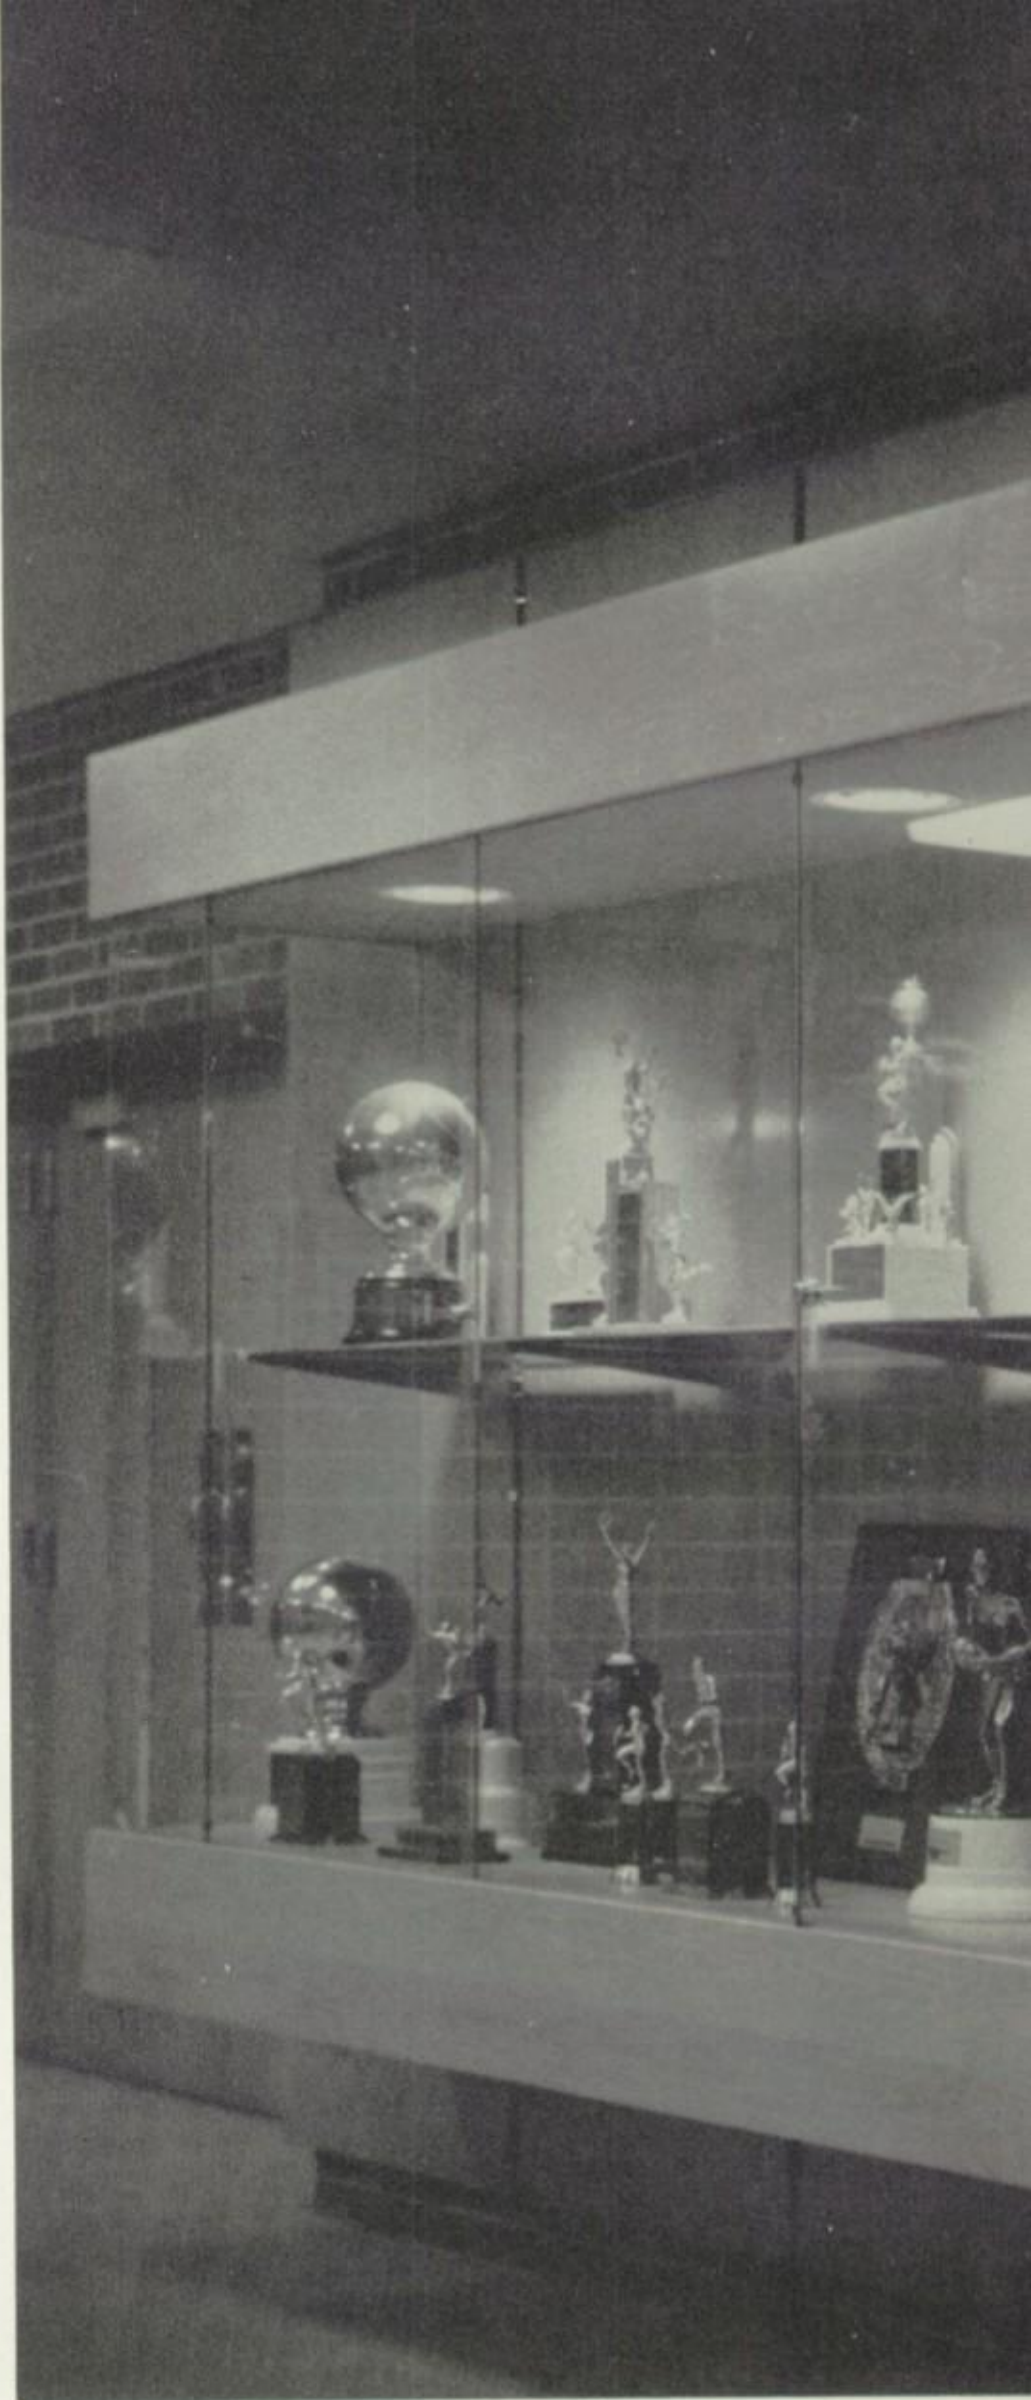

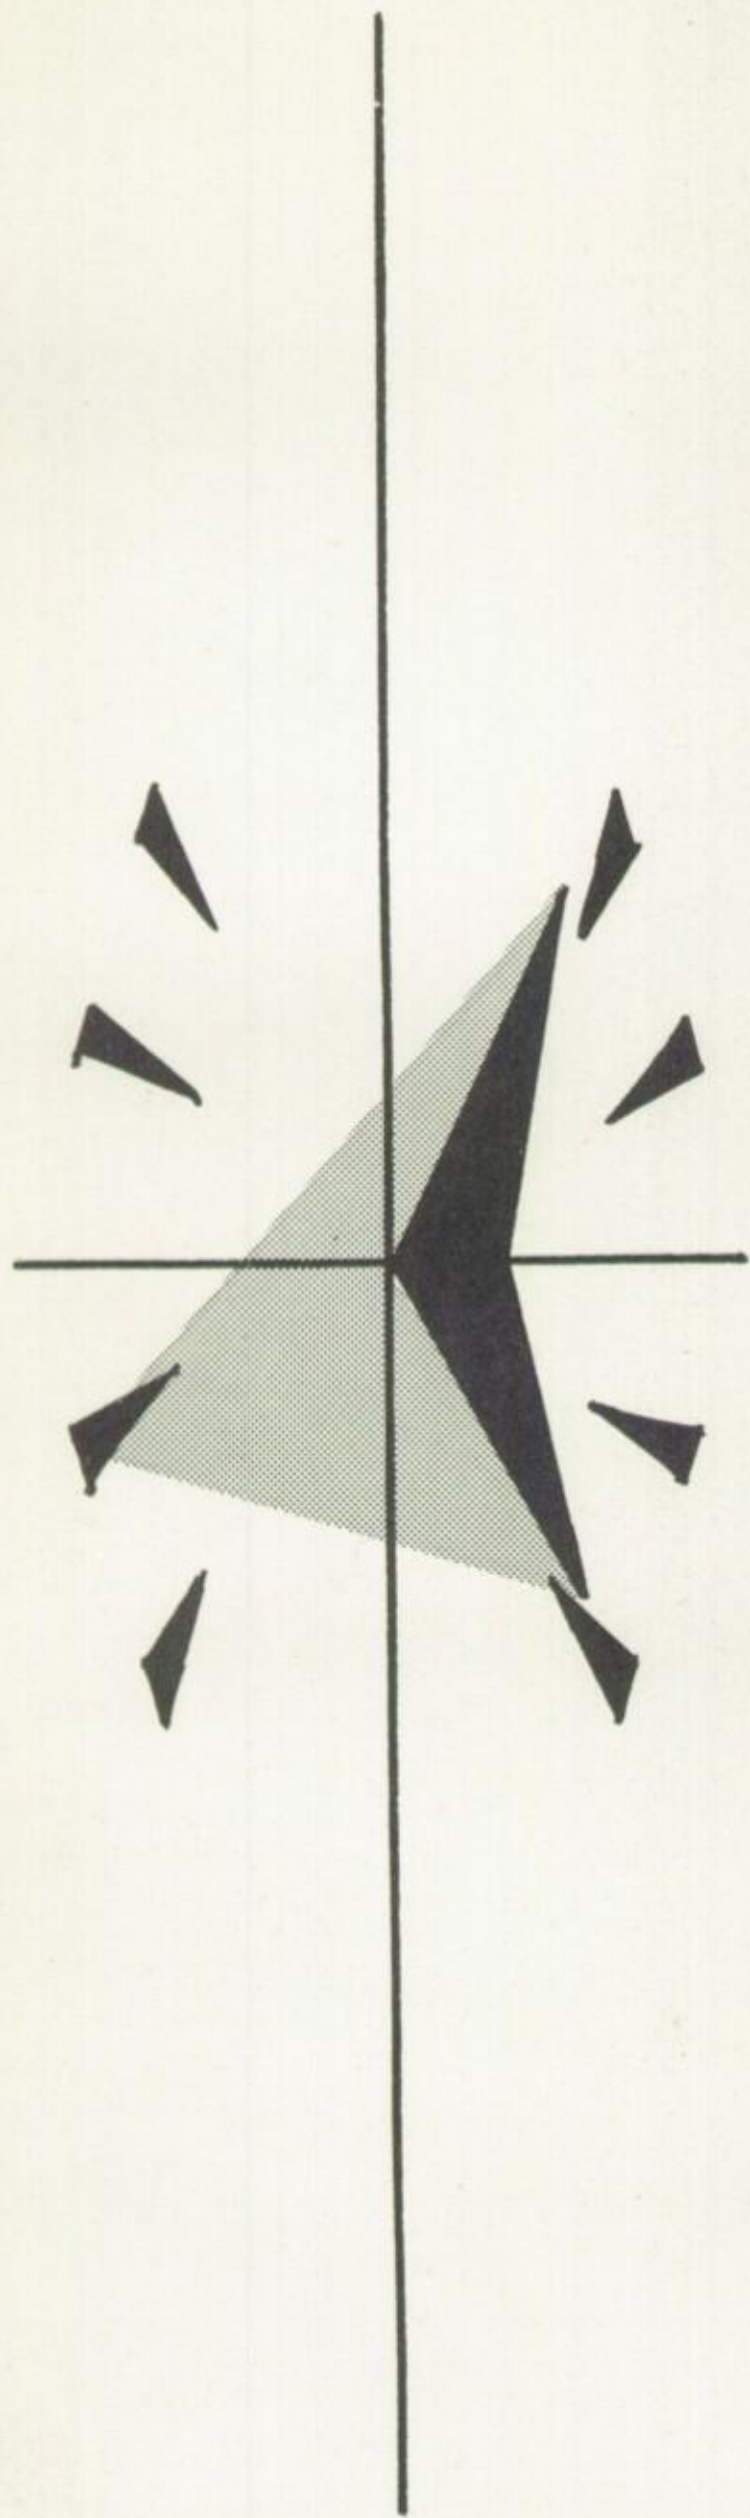

JUNIOR - SENIOR PROM. The night of the 1961 Junior-Senior Prom was a perfect one for such a special occasion. Pre-prom parties were held on the lawns of Kent Brawner and Ann Trimble. After these parties, everyone assembled at the school cafeteria for the banquet and after-dinner entertainment, which was provided by various ensemble groups.

The Prom Dance, which was held at the Bureau Valley Country Club, began at nine in the evening. Everyone had a wonderful time dancing to the music of Don Adams and his orchestra from Joliet. As twelve midnight approached, everyone started toward the Court House Square, where the couples were driven to the Prom Premiere in new cars.

After the Premiere was over, everyone went home to change into sports clothes and then met at the country club for the Prom Breakfast. The "Salty Dogs" furnished music guaranteed to keep everyone awake. After breakfast, the 1961 Prom came to an end, with everyone having had a wonderful time.

ATHLETICS STAFF

Although performance is up to the individual in any athletic contest, the development of his capabilities depends upon what he has learned through coaching.

Mr. Sheffer serves as athletic director, Varsity basketball coach, and golf instructor. He is considered one of the better basketball coaches in Illinois.

Mr. King is the head football and wrestling coach. Both are rough, strenuous sports, and he does a fine job of coaching in each of them.

Mr. Swan is the sophomore football and basketball coach, and is in his second year as head track coach.

Mr. Eklund has the greatest variety of duties, including the scouting of opponents in football and basketball, coaching freshman basketball and football, and serving as assistant track coach.

Mr. Krech serves as assistant coach in Varsity football, basketball, and track.

Mr. Ott returned to coaching this year as the cross country coach. It has been many years since he has coached a team, and we were glad to have him back in coaching ranks.

ATHLETIC MANAGERS

For almost every athletic organization in Princeton High School there is a manager or group of managers who devote a good portion of their free time helping the team to function more smoothly.

Led by returning letterman Jim Erickson, the football managers, Steve Gunning, Ron Yarger, and Steve Beatty, saw considerable action throughout the season. Their duties consisted of issuing, receiving, and repairing equipment, assisting at games and practices, and inventorying the gear at the season's end.

Last November two sophomores, Marvin Henkins and Bill Wiggins, reported for duty as Varsity basketball managers. Executing such tasks as ironing uniforms, helping at games, and replacing nets and scoreboard lights, they performed faithfully throughout the season. The sophomores were served by Frank Brutcher; and Tom Flint and Gary Swanson gained experience while tending to the freshmen's needs.

VARSITY FOOTBALL

On August 28, 1961, twenty-six Varsity football candidates, including fifteen returning lettermen, reported to Coach Lyle King for the first practice of the season. After three weeks of rugged practice, the Tigers journeyed to Morris to play the Redskins. Despite their out-playing Morris, the Tigers suffered a 6-0 defeat as the Redskins capitalized on a Princeton miscue and scored late in the game. However, Princeton fans were encouraged by the Tiger defense, which, in weeks to come, proved to be very effective.

The Tigers' second game, against Kewanee, was a defensive battle. As in the Morris game, the Tiger offense just couldn't get moving; consequently, Princeton went down to defeat, 13-0.

Still searching for their first victory, the Tigers returned home to Bryant Field to battle the Hall Red Devils. (Continued on Page 80.)

The Rock Falls Rockets provided the opposition for the P. H. S. Homecoming game. After a scoreless first half, the Rockets took a 3-0 lead in the third quarter on a field goal. As the game progressed, prospects for a happy Homecoming grew dimmer as the Tigers failed to mount an offensive threat. Late in the fourth quarter, the Tigers finally roared to life. Jack Stergulz sailed in to block a punt, Princeton recovering on the Rockets' eighteen. The inspired Tigers promptly pushed over a touchdown, Dick Olson scoring with only (Continued on Page 81.)

With two straight victories and hopes for the Conference championship, the Tigers hosted Mendota, a perennial power. Princeton opened the scoring on a sneak by Schultz in the second period. Princeton also scored in the third period when Olson rambled 51 yards to paydirt, after taking a Schultz pass all alone in the Mendota secondary. As the last quarter opened with the score 13-13, chances for a Tiger victory looked good. But Mendota quickly extinguished Tiger hopes by striking twice, to make the final score 26-13.

The Tigers' next game was played at Rochelle. Apparently disheartened by the loss to Mendota, Princeton displayed a noticeable lack of spirit and drive against the Hubs. Although heavily outweighed, the Hubs slapped the Tigers with a resounding defeat, 25-0.

For the final Conference game, Princeton traveled to Genesco. Despite a touchdown by Olson, the Tigers trailed at half-time, 14-7. But after knotting the score in the third period on another run by Olson, the Tigers took to the air for their winning tally. (Concluded on Page 83.)

The final game of the season against Chilli-cothe proved to be the Tigers' best. Led by Dick Peterson's three touchdowns and 211 yards in rushing, the Tiger offense ripped the Grey Ghosts apart, 33-0. Other Tiger touchdowns were recorded by John Jensen and Jack Stergulz, one on a draw play and one on a pass from Schultz.

This year's record of four wins and four losses is as good as any Tiger team has compiled in recent years. No Princeton team in the decade prior to 1961 had a better Conference record than this year's team. The ability of 1961 Tigers was significantly recognized when Stergulz, Schneider, Howard, and Olson were accorded honorable mention on various all-state teams.

CROSS COUNTRY

After several years of retirement from coaching, Mr. W. C. Ott resumed his coaching career with our 1961 cross country team. Since only one upperclassman took part in this sport, the harriers had a Varsity squad composed almost entirely of freshmen and sophomores.

After losing at Walnut in their opening meet, the Tiger harriers next met Kewanee, who fell victim to the Tigers. Later Princeton lost a second meet at Walnut, and at the Kewanee Invitational our harriers finished third out of a field of six.

On the next-to-the-last meet of the season, Princeton lost in a dual meet at LaSalle. The Varsity squad ended competition at the District Meet in Peoria Heights, where they placed fifteenth.

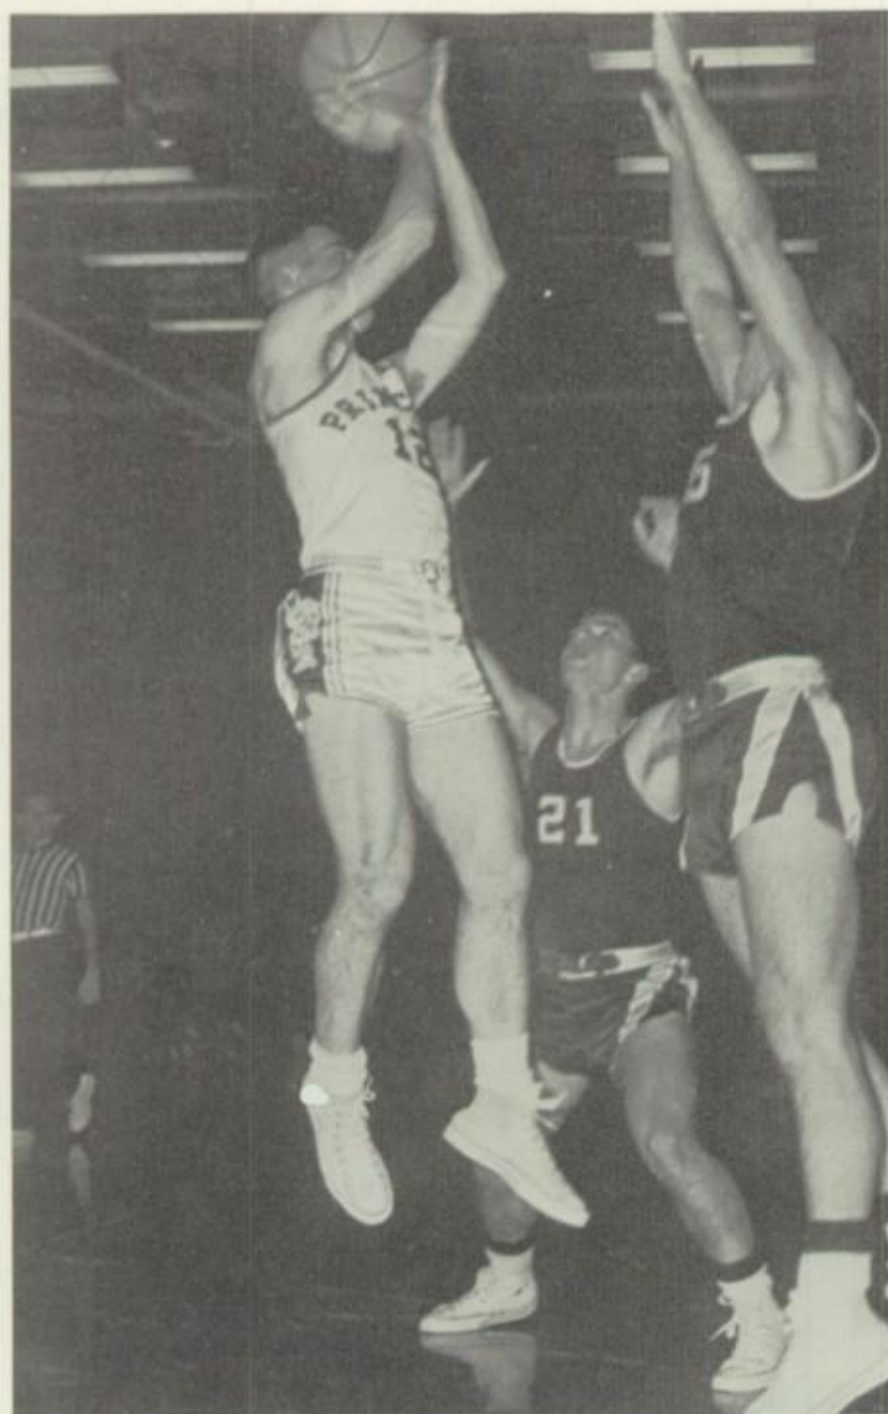

The freshmen lost their first meet at Kewanee, but at Rock Falls both the A and B squads won. Their next three meets were dropped to Geneseo, Dixon, and LaSalle. They won sixth place at the Conference Meet in Kewanee, with Dennis Arch winning a second-place ribbon.

Formula: Angel plus basketball equals two points.

Princeton has for many years been known as a "Basketball Town." It is easy to understand why when one considers the long line of winning teams Princeton's fine coaching staff has produced and the fervor with which local fans support the teams. The year 1961-62 proved to be no exception as the Tigers grabbed a third of the Conference championship, and fans continued to follow in droves even though they could tune in all the games on WZOE.

Led by three returning lettermen from the 1960-61 squad, the Tigers started with three weeks of intensive practice prior to the opening game with Washington. During those three weeks the six players who were to carry the brunt of the Bengal attack throughout the season had distinguished themselves: Jack Stergulz, Ed Williams, Bob Howard, Jon Ross, Roger Angel, and Dick Peterson.

In a game completely dominated by the tall Washington Squad, Princeton was sent home on the short end of a 66-45 score. Another dismal note in this game was the fact that Dick Olson re-injured a bad knee and therefore could not supply the guard spot strength he would otherwise have given. In the last two periods of the Henry game, our boys caught fire and walked away with a 51-33 victory. After a 61-47 decision over St. Bede, in which Stergulz pumped in 21 points, the Bengals opened Conference play against Mendota. Although hot-shooting Willie Hanson gunned in 35 points, a well balanced Princeton attack outpointed the Trojans 65-60.

Princeton next stifled DePue 80-46; and the Tiger offense stuttered slightly at DeKalb, but in a whirlwind finish our boys squeezed by the Barbs 45-44. With Angel clipping the nets for 21 while Stergulz, Ross, and Williams scored in double figures, the Tigers continued their winning ways at the expense of Hall, 75-45.

Entering the Pontiac Holiday Tournament, the Tigers brought home another trophy, marking the fourth such honor in the five years at Pontiac. Jack Stergulz whipped in 22 points to lead the Tigers past La Salle-Peru; Angel and Ross contributed twenty points apiece as the Bengals clawed past the scrappy Pontiac Indians. (Continued from Page 86.)

In the third game of this tourney, Princeton outscored Bloom in the second half but could not overcome the first-half lead piled up by the high-jumping outfit from Chicago Heights. Up against the Lockport Porters for third place major, Princeton played its finest game of the tournament. The Tigers came roaring back in the last few minutes to win 52-47. Angel's 29 points in the Bloom game and Stergulz' 30 points against Lockport were outstanding individual performances in the Pontiac tourney.

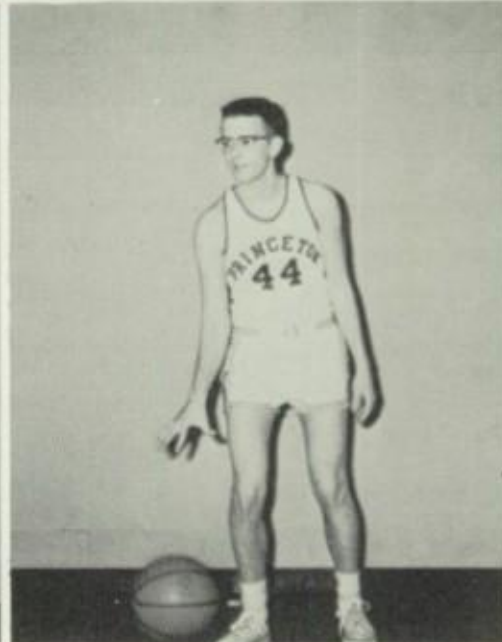

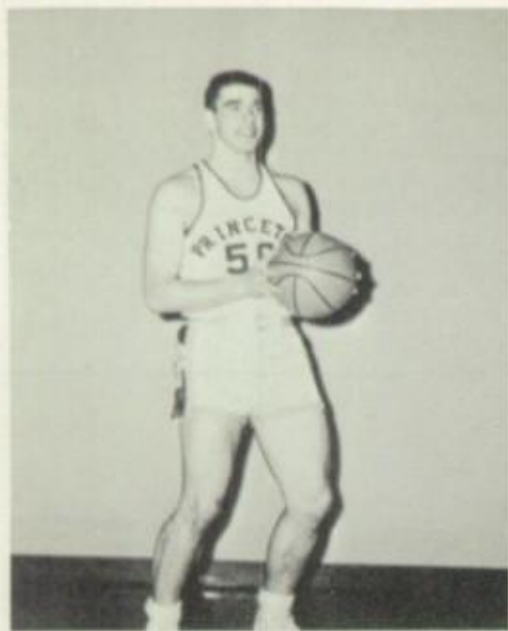

In addition to returning to the regular schedule, Princeton also participated in and won the St. Bede Invitational Tourney. Victories over Streator and Peoria Central accounted for the tournament championship. After a defeat at the hands of Rock Falls, the Tigers posted wins over Dixon, Marquette, Streator, and Geneseo.

After swamping Rochelle 74-48, the Princeton five saw its winning streak go up in smoke at the hands of the Morris Redskins, 59-58, in a game not decided till the last minute. A relatively easy win over Kewanee and a rout of Mid-County brought the Tigers to their biggest test of the year against Sterling. By defeating the Warriors, the Tigers could assure themselves of at least a tie for the Conference championship. It was a see-saw battle, with the Tiger cause aided materially by the hooking and rebounding of Stergulz and by the timely foul shooting of Ed Williams. With seconds remaining, the Tigers led by three; so they allowed Sterling to make a final shot and took a share of the crown with a 58-57 victory. The Tigers were unable to defeat their old Nemesis, Ottawa, to secure undisputed Conference honors. Although this last game was in doubt to the end, the work of big Doug McKendrick along the baseline was the final factor as the Pirates sank Princeton and produced a three-way tie for the crown.

Came the Regional Tournament, and the Tigers took it easy in racking up a 55-36 victory over Hall. Two nights later they came up against a fiery Walnut team. In a game marked by many Princeton floor errors, the Raiders led most of the time. A Tiger press and offensive attack dramatically erased a ten-point Walnut bulge in the fourth quarter, but Princeton lost their late advantage and went down to a rather dismal defeat.

Although the season ended unhappily, the 20-6 over-all record and the tie for the Conference crown made it one of which the team, the coaches, and the fans can be justly proud.

The 1962 wrestling team had a creditable record in just the third year for the sport at PHS. Coach King started the year with only four returning lettermen: Jim English, Kent Thompson, John Sanders, and Davis Anderson. The rest of the team was composed mainly of underclassmen.

The early part of the season was spent in mastering fundamentals and getting into condition. The young team showed steady improvement during the season. Many of the individual matches were won by margins of only one or two points. The Varsity wrestlers participated in a four-team tournament at Prophetstown and came in second, one point shy of first place honors. Tom Dixon, Larry Vetter, John Sanders, and Davis Anderson brought trophies home.

In their two major events of the year, the Varsity wrestlers made a good showing. At the Conference Meet, Davis Anderson and Tom Vetter brought home fourth place medals, the first Princeton boys ever to place in the Conference. The District Meet was held at Galesburg, and the Princeton team placed fourth. Six Princeton boys placed: Tom Dixon, Larry Vetter, Dale Kriesel, and Davis Anderson each placed second; Jim English placed third, and Kent Thompson placed fourth.

The boys who finished in second place qualified for the Sectional Meet at Rock Island. In the sectional, Davis Anderson, by placing third in the heavyweight division, just missed qualifying for the state meet. The fact that four wrestlers advanced to Sectional provided a promising note for the future of PHS wrestling.

TRACK

Most of the boys pictured in the photograph above were expected to represent PHS in Varsity track for 1962. Because of anticipated early deadlines, the photograph above was taken for this book in the spring, 1961, minus those harriers of last year's track team who were 1961 graduates.

As this article was written in February, prospects for a winning track team for 1962 were good. There were ten returning lettermen, seven of them seniors. Senior lettermen expected to return were J. Stergulz, J. Ross, R. Howard, D. Russell, R. Schneider, J. Poffinbarger, and J. Sanders. Juniors J. Swanson and M. Groy, and sophomore D. Arch were underclass lettermen expected to return.

Our best performers were expected to be those in the weight events. Coach Swan was looking forward to a good season, hopeful that there might be several PHS candidates for State competition.

GOLF

During the 1961 season our golf team compiled a record of six wins and five losses. They lost one and won one against both La Salle and Mendota. Then they were defeated by Streator and dropped two to Ottawa. After defeating Kewanee twice, they went on to defeat Sterling and Rock Falls each once.

At each match our five top golfers are pitted against the other school's top five.

Last year the top five P.H.S. linksmen were Tom Branning, Bill Brown, Barry Schultz, Mike Lenihan and Pete Eckdahl. Each of these boys received a letter for having a competition average of 45 or better throughout the season.

Coach Sheffer was looking forward to a promising 1962 season with four of the above five lettermen returning.

The above picture, taken in the spring of 1961, includes those golfers expected to return this year, minus this season's Frosh.

BOYS' INTRAMURALS

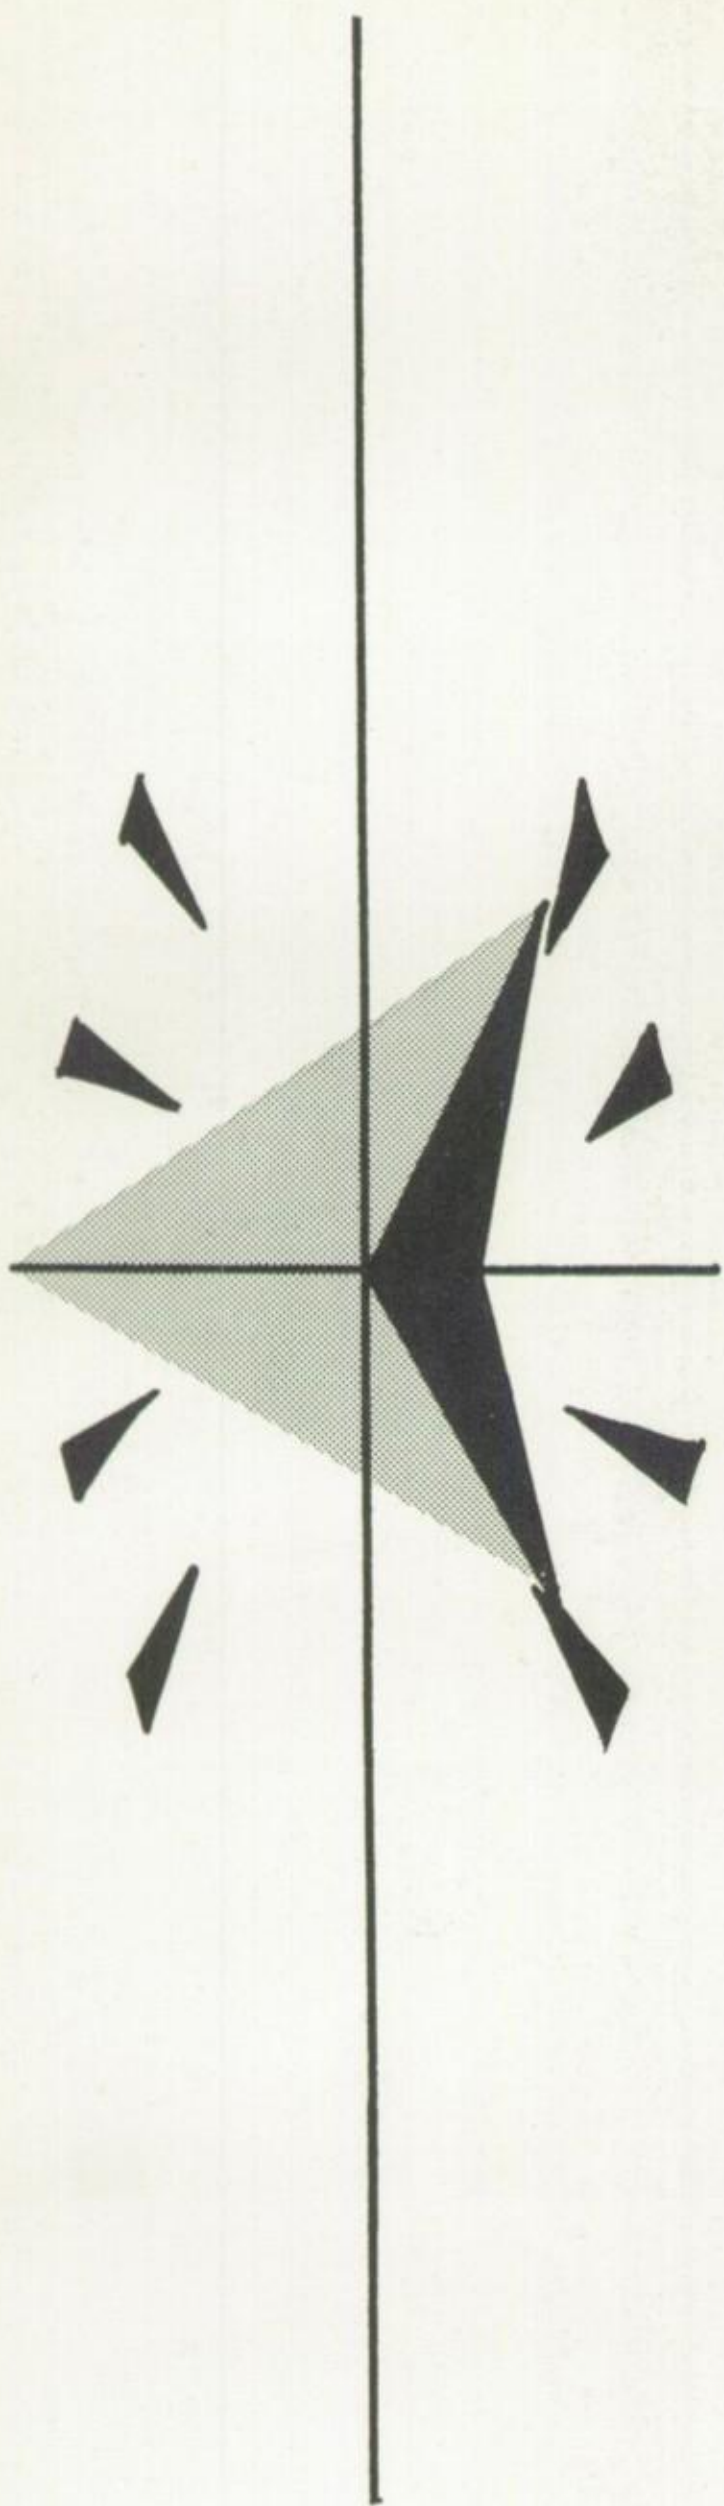

Intramurals have been part of P. H. S. life for a long time. However, the 1961-62 school year saw the beginning of an intramural program that is very wide in scope. Mr. Durham began his work as director of the intramural program with the 1960-61 school year, and he then inaugurated a four-sport slate: wrestling, volleyball, dodgeball, and basketball. The past year the program was expanded to include ping-pong, bowling, tennis, softball, paddleball, golf, track, and badminton. Participation in these sports is open to all boys except those on Varsity teams.

Mr. Durham plans to extend the program still further as additional space and equipment are acquired. The varied intramural program provides excellent recreation and exercise opportunities. Intramurals may also interest boys in Varsity sports, such as wrestling, for example. The energetic administration of this program accounts for a valuable extra in the activities offered at P. H. S.

Mr. Krech

To realize that our high school days are over arouses a deep feeling of pride within me. I take pride in the accomplishments of the Class of '62. We, as a class, took full advantage of the opportunities open to us and met every challenge with a determination to be victorious.

Without cooperation, however, very little could have been accomplished. My fellow officers and the Planning Committee were key figures in securing this needed cooperation, and they deserve much credit. Both groups were very willing to do that little extra whenever necessary.

To Mr. Krech, our Class Adviser, I wish to express the Seniors' sincerest thanks. He has been behind us in whatever we have undertaken and has been our guiding hand for our years in high school.

I wish to express my thanks to the members of the class for their support of me and the other officers. All the class officers join in wishing the best possible success to our fellow graduates. May your years to come be profitable and enjoyable.

On the occasion of the graduation of the Class of '62, I wish to impart one thought to the classes that follow: "Success isn't an accident but an accomplishment."

HANDSOME, AREN'T WE?

CLASS HISTORY

Late in the year of 1949, the Class of '62 made its initial scholastic appearance. We were attending school for the first day, not having any idea of what to expect and terrified of the unknown. Much to our surprise, however, it proved to be far less frightening than we thought. While not exactly unadulterated jollity, grade school did have its moments of fun. Many friendships were formed among the students of each school, Lincoln, Douglas, and Logan; and Brownies, Cub Scouts, Little League, and Biddy Basketball even promoted an occasional inter-school relationship. The years passed peacefully, in spite of classes held in churches and the tremendous Lincoln-Douglas rivalry, and soon we approached the great moment—the day when we focused our collective attention on Logan Junior High School.

We approached the second stage of our academic careers with an enthusiasm that far outweighed our apprehension. We quickly became accustomed to the sensation of the homeroom and the rotation of class rooms and teachers. Our fears of a certain instructor whose fame had spread throughout the grade schools materialized to some extent; but, for the most part, he was more jovial than sadistic. A further fear that the female segment of our class would be readily snapped up by the suave eighth graders proved to be baseless. A few of our lads even went so far as to reverse the trend. Extra-curricular activities drew our attention as many of us joined the Art Club, newspaper staff, band, and girls' chorus. The boys were, unfortunately, deprived of a chance to exert their vocal talents because of an over-enthusiasm for the instructor's piano-playing ability. In the field of athletics, our stalwart males more than held their own with winning baseball, basketball, and track teams, while the girls limbered up to pursue careers in cheerleading. Our social status and horizons were greatly enhanced, not only by our numerous parties, but also by our admittance as junior members of the "Chocolate Shop Crowd." While in previous years we had cautiously advanced no further than the pinball machine or, at the farthest, the candy cases, we now entered the once-forbidden realm of the back booths with outward poise and inward delight. As we sat absorbing the heady atmosphere provided by the revered high schools, we realized how far we had progressed in but a short year.

The next fall, we returned to the hallowed portals eager to savor the glory of leadership always bequeathed upon eighth graders. Our baseball team started things out on a good note as they lost but one game and earned first place in the county tournament. Basketball then became the prime interest, and here we really made our mark, showing great promise of things to come. The heavyweights were undefeated, while the lightweights wound up second in both the conference and the tournament. The close of the season and the termination of the entertaining bus rides were viewed with regret by everyone concerned, especially by those players and cheerleaders who were going together. About this time, we were confronted with the first money-making project that our class had ever undertaken. This, of course, was the annual magazine drive that financed the glorious trip to Chicago. Because of the numerous valuable prizes offered to those who energetically pursued the art of door-knocking, we racked up sale after sale and thereby insured a gala affair in the spring. Spring came and the State Legislature of Illinois served in an unusual way to fire the imaginations of all the fourteen-year-old-boys. They passed a law allowing a person of said age to operate a motor vehicle of less than five brake horsepower. In an instant, the mind of every boy in the class was turned from the previous avocation of gaudy bicycles to the new phenomenon of Cushman and Harleys. While only a few were fortunate enough to purchase a unit, the others were content to dreamily memorize the page of every scooter catalog. Finally, the day of days arrived when 120 of us, subdivided by homerooms, boarded Granville Greyhounds and set out for the Windy City. Much preparation went into the trip, as was evidenced by the sharp rise of Liggett and Meyer Stock on the Midwest exchange. After an eventful ride highlighted by petty gambling and concealed drags in the back of the bus, our teeming hoard descended upon the Museum of Science and Industry with lunches and other essentials still intact. For the rest of the morning, we strolled through the exhibits, casting furtive glances over our shoulders and trying very hard not to cough. It was while we were finishing lunch that the electrifying news came—two of our lads (the good guys) had been waylaid by a band of local ne'er-do-wells (the bad guys), threatened with bodily harm, and relieved of a small sum of cash. This was enough to send cold pangs of rage through the hearts of many of our group (more good guys) and, with a hint of malice in their eyes, they set out to do the offenders in. As our gallant crew made their way down the sidewalk, a couple of the sniveling cowards came into view. Showing a heart-warming wave of compassion, our hardened warriors decided to drop the matter and immediately disbanded. The rest of the day was quite routine, but this incident in itself was enough to threaten the continuance of future excursions. The Country Club Dance rounded out our last year in Junior High. Then came graduation, and we were placed in the position of green freshmen.

Needless to say, everyone was hopefully looking forward to our first day of high school. Some were apprehensive, at best, after hearing scoldings from various Junior High teachers like, "You people will make Mr. Ott pull his hair out," or, "You do that over there and they'll throw you out." Not everyone had to wait until the first day to learn the ways of High School, however. Over one-fourth of our class was preeducated en route to "Little Siberia" and back. By this, we refer to our freshman football squad, or mob, thirty-five strong. They enjoyed the healthful sun and invigorating exercises afforded them by Mr. Sheffer and Mr. Eklund, our "social directors," for some time before our first day. From the initial bell on that long-awaited day until now, we have become increasingly "punch drunk." This must be the explanation of the behavior of seniors, since, by the time they become such, they have heard the bell ring 11,880 times, and by the time they graduate, over 15,840 times. Getting back to our freshmen days, we find that we survived that first day quite well and came back again, and again, and again, et cetera, ad infinitum. (That's freshman Latin for those of you who read—Latin.) As a matter of fact, or maybe even a point of interest, we came back 720 times between then and now. As the year rolled along, our football team met with continued success. We had a rather strange record on the grid at home though, neither winning nor losing a single game. Whoever planned that season's freshman schedule must have enjoyed seeing the team off. It might be mentioned that, although the boys almost unanimously went out for football, the girls did not stand idly by. They went out for upperclassmen, much to the chagrin of their gallants in webbed helmets. So heart-broken were the boys, they went out and lost their last game. Winter brought snow. It also brought basketball and the Sweetheart Dance, ranked in order of importance according to sex. Although we got to play at home in basketball, the brand of good luck we had in football stayed with us. Winter also brought our first semester exams. Our class proved exceptional in studies as well as sports. As a matter of fact, we were outstanding in almost everything except our class yell. We never could get that first tricky line. "We're the class of white and blue . . ." Spring brought track and the Sadie Hawkins Dance, also ranked in order of importance according to sex. This seems a nice arrangement, since it is necessary for the boys to get into shape to outrun the girls looking for dates. With spring also came mud, making it appropriate to plan a freshman picnic. This event came off quite well after we chased the Harper-Wyman softball team off the ball diamond. We also took over the "Log Cabin." And, on this aggressive, self-confident note, we ended our Freshman year.

After an unusually dull summer, we returned, this time with the rank of Sophomores, a far more regal title, yet one infinitely harder to spell in assemblies. Our drastically reduced football squad, after a year spent covering the turf of Bryant Field, showed its appreciation for the opportunity of playing at home by turning in a fine 5-1-1 record. Later in the year, our basketball team, playing in a magnificent new gym, compiled one of the best records ever earned by a Princeton Kitten team as they closed the season with twenty-two victories against one defeat. Many of our "beef-ies" and more manually orientated lads showed their prowess at wrestling, a sport that has been growing in popularity ever since. When we weren't attending athletic events, we were engaged in academic pursuits such as polishing off either Julie at the forum or grasshoppers in the chloroform jar. While it was scooters in '58, we were now eagerly awaiting the arrival of the real thing. As the number of joyful license recipients rapidly increased from December on, we regretfully discovered why we are discriminated against by the insurance boys. We ran the full gamut of mishaps, from bumper dents to totals, as each new driver took the wheel with a feeling somewhat akin to that of the town marshal who expects Billy the Kid to step from behind each saloon he passes. Double and triple dates were prevalent as those with wheels found themselves in great demand. Spring brought track, golf, fever, and the major event of the year's social calendar, the Sophomore Banquet. When all of our nattily attired crowd had arrived at the cafeteria, we sat down to a tasty meal that was strangely reminiscent of others eaten there. After dining, we were entertained by prophecies and awards that, more than once, brought frowns of disapproval from the assembled dignitaries. The affair was closed traditionally; in that, no one remained to enjoy the dancing. Things improved, however, at the beginning of our Junior year. At last we were upperclassmen. But did we have all the privileges befitting our new station? No! Thuse was dead.

Yes, Thuse was dead, and Thuse was mourned,
But Thuse was not forgotten!
And every year we'll think of Thuse
When the tomatoes all get rotten.

(That's poetry for those of you who read.) Since our class had always been in the limelight, we found little difficulty in presenting a most successful Junior Class Play. "Decision on Ramey Scott" was a hit despite the lighting technician's catching the brunt, or burnt, of a short circuit and hitting the floor in the middle of the third act. Our "boys in blue" continued to cast glory on PHS by winning contests in football, basketball, and track before a gallery of spectators, the Varsity backers. Spring brought the formation of the little-publicized Garden Club, which held but one meeting of applied gardening—on the football field. Another extra-curricular activity indulged in by the club was the attempted sale of the monument on Main Street. This project proceeded as far as placing "For Sale" signs on the edifice, but stopped abruptly there. As the disbanded monument sales Committee had nothing to do with planning the Prom, the "Sea of Dreams" flowed happily on, with much thanks due to our friends, the Salty Dogs. At last, the moment had come. We were to reap our just rewards. Finally, we were Seniors!

A highlight of our Senior year occurred with the Homecoming game, when our gridders lived up to the title Varsity by knocking the props out from under the high-flying Rock Falls Rockets. And in basketball the 1962 Tigers took firm hold on a one-third share of the Conference crown. "Command performances" of the Senior Class Play, "Twelve Angry People," were presented on two successive evenings—a departure from the customary one-night stands of former years.

As this article was being completed early in March, many members of the Class of '62 were busy filling out college application forms. Others were completing forms that would put them in uniform. Still others had a great variety of future plans. It was obvious that our class was not going to stand still after graduation. Encouraged by the compliments of our class adviser Mr. Krech, and of all of our teachers, we were confident that as 1962 products of Princeton schools we would go forth to win fame and establish ourselves as worthy adult citizens. To usher us into that prospect, we were eagerly looking forward to end-of-the-year events: Awards Day, the appearance of our 1962 TIGER, Senior Farewell Assembly, the Prom, and Commencement.
